The Pension List.

The speech of Hon. William A. Jones of Virginia, on the subject of general pension legislation, delivered in the House of Representatives several weeks ago, is worthy of perusal. It appeared in our saue of yesterday.

Mr. Jones has familiarized himself wit the whole subject of general pension legis lation. Being a member of the Commit tee on Pensions, he has had the opport unity to qualify himself to discuss al the questions involved in that legislation. It is, of course, one thing to belong to an important committee and another thing to take a leading part in its work. Mr lones first qualified himself to perform this latter duty in the most satisfactory manner possible, and when opportunity gave to the bounty-jumpers at other fraudulent pensioners borne on the of his quality as a speaker. He has, we think, never been worsted in an encoun wits with any member of the House of Representatives.

sting to southern men as duce all of them to read it, but we think few of its strong points will be read by many of the old soldiers of the Confede racy. The old veterans of the Lost Caus ave cause to congratulate ther selves that their names do not appear or any roll of dishonor. There are no bogus nest those veterans.

The bill which Mr. Jones discussed was bill to restore to the pension rolls those liens (and only those allens) who lost non-resident of the United States except for actual disabilities incurred i the service. To give the title of this lat ter bill is to show that it ought not to which history gives us any account car boast of no such figures as the musterroll of the United States contains, "It is thought that the safest estimate of the ber that entered the Federal armies is 2.500,000." Think of that. Two and a half millions of soldiers. But what sort of soldiers? "The military records show that 1.776.995 of them were bounty men and 123,190 of them were paid substitutes." Now, why should these mercenaries be oned? They have no claim whatever upon the country. They pocketed their pay for all their services when they were nustered into the service. To enroll such men along with the men who patriotically ore the brunt of the war, and pension bounty-jumpers and other mere hirelings as if they had obeyed the call to arms of their country, is to wrong the patriotic lead and the patriotic living. The bounties paid during the war by the Federal Government and the local authorities amounted to nearly six hundred millions of dollars! The reader need no reject these figures. Mr. Jones obtained them from official sources.

On the first day of last July the number of pensioners on the roll was 969,544! Thirty years after the war between the States ended in the surrender at Appo mattox Courthouse there are on the rolls of the United States Government nearly million of pensioners.

These are a few of the interesting fig ures contained in Mr. Jones's speech. The whole of the speech is, we repeat, worth of perusal, Mr. Jones is Lord Bacon's 'full man' when he discusses the subject of pensions, pension-rolls, and pen-

Sugar and "the Pop-Gun Bills." Of the "pop-gun" bills which have been bent to the Senate by the House of Representatives the strongest is that which proposes to put sugar on the free list. "A free breakfast table" is desired by every family in the land, excepting only those who receive dividends from the

Whenever a fair, square, straightout wote is taken in the Senate, sugar will be put on the free list-unless, indeed, it can be made clear that the government must have the millions of revenue which a tariff on sugar will produce. Louisiana, and people generally would not mind the making of reasonable concessions to sugar planters provided that the Sugar Trust is not thereby enriched. To put sugar on the free list at one Stroke and not to pay the bounty for is year would be a dreadful misfortune the planters who borrowed money to pitch their crops with full faith that they would get the bounty this year, as they have done every year since the McKinley bill was passed. Besides, those senators who persuaded their Louisiana prothers to support the Senate bill are under obligations to stand by Louisiana as far as they may properly do so-without putting Congress and the country at the seet of Havemeyer & Co.

What the people ask is that the fetters which bind them to the Sugar Trust may be broken, and that "a free breakfast table" may follow as soon as possible.

Electing U. S. Senators by the People That the people of the several States States senators—that is, if they desire to do so—would seem to be indicated by the fact that State after State is either act ing on the subject or holding it under consideration. The last report touching the subject comes from Georgia, where so far more than one half of the Democratic nominees for the Legislature have been instructed in favor of Hon. O. A. Bacon, of Macon, to succeed Mr. Walsh, who was appointed by the Governor to succeed the late Mr. Colquitt.

his claims upon the stump. Senator Camden's suppor with "trusts and monopolies," including the Standard Oil Company, has caused him to lose much of his popularity. He is objectionable to the people of Jeffer-son county, however, rather for favoring a tariff upon coal and iron-ore, and for antagonizing President Cleveland, than connection with trusts and mo olles. The result foreshadows election of senators by the people, The Jefferson-county Democrats made clean sweep of it. They elected, nominated for election to the House of Delegates, A. W. McDonald, Esq., who has long been an anti-railroad man, if so we may call him. President Cleveland gained a victory, in fact, which will please him.

The Last of the Strike.

The news from Chicago in yesterlay's papers touching the return to work of the Pullman strikers indicates the iotal ollapse of the strike, and may also indicate that there will be no strike of that sort hereafter, either in Pullman or else sad affair. The strikers gained nothing whatever by their movement. They did learn, however, that the whole power o the Federal Government, as well as that upon hereafter to prevent strikers from unlawful proceedings in their efforts to have their wages raised or to preven them from being lowered. Not that we admire the conduct of Mr. Pullman or the Pullman Company; for we thought he ing; but because the absence of law and order will ruin any country.

hands-the strikers themselves, recollecttumbled themselves and besieged the two thousand of them are probably at work now.

Specimen Extracts.

It is amusing to read the comments of the New York papers on the coup d'etat of Monday. The Herald declares that under compulsion of the darkest and foulest conspiracy in the annals of any nation, the House of Representatives has passed the Senate tariff bill."

The Tribune says: "The last extreme of disgrace has bee accepted by the decision of a full Demo-cratic caucus and by the action of the Democratic House."

"Yesterday, the House Democrats, with Mr. Wilson's consent and the implied approval of Mr. Cleveland, voted in caucus by the overwhelming majority of 130 to 21 to abandon Democratic principles as defined by Mr. Cleveland, to betray Democratic piedges as interpreted by Mr. Cleveland, to commit what he described as party perfidy, and to incur the party dishonor against which he warned th A few hours later the House adopted the Senate bill ty a vote of 181 to 195. The surrender of the House to the demands of the Senate protectionists is abject and un-serve to show that the New York papers are at sea on this subject.

columns that Judge Morison had declined District.

the fact. He would have been accounted an unworthy son of the honored old District Convention, and, having been so We have not a word to say as to whether Judge Morison, or Mr. Marshall, er some new man, ought now to be nominated. The honor of Virginia is satisfied.

A Notable Precedent.

There is no telling to what the action of the House of Representatives on Monday on the Senate tariff bill will lead. It is, indeed, a notable precedent. It will have to be watched with a jealous eye, or it ever any decision of the United States Supreme Court produced. We have no fault to find with the House of Representatives. Indeed, we do not see how that body could in any other way have extricated itself from the slough into which it had fallen. We might claim that we called ten days ago for action by caucus if action by the conferrees could not be secured. Nevertheless, the precedent, we repeat, is a notable one. If the House of Representatives had the right to do what it did on Monday, the Senate, under similar circumstances, would have the right to do likewise.

The Senate Bill. The Senate bill is described by Mr. L. E. Holder, of the Cleveland Plain-Dealer,

as follows: "I consider the bill that has just bee onsider the bill that has just been enacted a revenue measure that is worthy of the highest praise. It is a first-rate piece of legislation, and needs no apology. It is strictly in line with the old-time Democratic idea of a tariff for revenue with incidental protection. The fatal defect of the Wilson bill was that it failed to raise revenue enough to defray the expenses of the government, being worse in this respect than the McKinley bill, which creates a big deficit."

Legally, the District would seem to be entitled to some redress from the Virginia militia, for there is a local statute which holds to accountability and threatens to punish the person or persons who bring into this territory other persons liable to become a public charge; if it be an offence to persuade vagrants hither, it is hardly any less of a misdemeanor to force them within the boundaries of the national capital.—The Washington Star. Well, suppose you cause the Governor, the Attorney-General, the Adjutant-Gene ral, and the offending volunteer companies of Virginia to be arrested and brought before your Police Court! _ Those Commonweal vagrants came to us from the District of Columbia, and it was right that we should dump them back on the District.

According to our way of thinking, there has been a decided lack of good leader-ship among House Democrats in the ship among House Democrats in the management of the tariff bill since that measure was sent to a conference com-mittee.—Norfolk Ledger.

What do you think of their "manage ment" of Monday? To us it seems to have been ingenious and successful in the highest degree. The republic is more than a hundred years old, but never before did one house of Congress more successfully or more unexpectedly "manage" such a question than did the present House of Representatives manage the one which they "tackled" on Monday.

In an Exeter (N. H.) town meeting the question of building a new fence about a burying-ground was considered. Judge Jeremiah Smith opposed it. "What is the need, Mr. Moderator," said he, "of a new fence about such a place? Those who are cutside of it have no desire to get in, and those who are inside cannot get out."—Detroit Free Press.

(colored) as the murderer of Robert Lewis, who was mysteriously shot down in his own yard in the East End early last Sunday morning.

In an entirely new story told yesterday afternoon by Margaret Lewis, wife of the surdered man, she said that Field was the slayer of her husband, and it appears that Field answers almost in every particular to the descriptions of the murderer given by eye-witnesses to the killing The coupling of the name of this, the fourth negro, with this tragedy, however, does not at all relieve from suspicion the wife, who is now in jail upon the charge of being accessory to the murder.

The testimony of three new witnesses in the case, who were examined by Justice Crutchfield yesterday, seemed to make it plainer than ever that Margaret had a hand in the deadly work.

Mr. Samuel Gordon stated in the brief examination of yesterday that he saw man on Saturday night when she was waving the pistol, and heard her say that when she got home what sne would do for him (her husband) would be cough to last him the balance of his life.

SAW THE WHOLE DIFFICULTY. Georgie Wallace, a negro woman, who resides next door to the Lewis house, testified that she heard and saw the whole difficulty. She declared that the fight started up stairs in the Lewis house, was continued down stairs and out into the yard to which place Markaret seemed was continued down stairs and out into the yard, to which place Margaret seemed to be very anxious to get her husband. After observing the irate couple wrangle down stairs the witness heard Lewis's wife strike him with a piece of iron. Margaret then ran to the back door, followed by her husband. The latter was loudly scolding, and said, "Til follow you out doors and get at you." Margaret, running out on the step, re-torted, "That's just where I want to ge

Lewis had caught up with her and the fight had been resumed when the shoot ing occurred.

ONLY A GLIMPSE. The witness only got a glimpse of the man who fired the shots, but was positive that he was a tall, bright mulatto, with a moustache, and wore either a light coat or was in his shirt sleeves. Georgie was sure the murderer was a much taller man than Jesse Murphy, who was ar-rested and discharged after an examina-

Joseph Holmes (colored) corroborated the testimony of the woman so far as his knowledge of the tragedy went. Their descriptions of the man who did the shooting were almost identical, and Field is said to answer them to the letter.
Field was arrested late yesterday afternoon by Sergeant John T. Hall and Officer Louis Werner and locked up in the First Station-house. The suspected man was only arrested on the charge of being a suspicious character, but it is probable that another warrant will be served upon him.

ANOTHER NEGRO WANTED. ANOTHER NEGRO WANTED.
Sergeant John T. Hail and Officer Werner were looking last night for "Shorty"
Platt, another negro who, they believe, was connected with the murder. They were talking with Platt at one time during the afternoon, but the suspected darky managed to elude the officers subsequently, and they had not caught him at midnight. Platt, it seems, is believed either to have furnished Field with the pistol from which the deadly shots were either to have furnished ready shots were pistol from which the deadly shots were fired, or received the weapon from the murderer after the shooting. Both men are barbers. Field has a shop on Seven-teenth street between Franklin and Grace. and the other negro works on Grace nea Eighteenth street. They are close friends and the other negro works on Grace near Eighteenth street. They are close friends. The Dispatch reporter, who called at the First Police-Station last night to in-terview Field, was denied that privilege by the Sergeant in charge, as orders had been left to the effect that no one should talk to the prisoner. Field does not yet been left to the effect that no one should talk to the prisoner. Field does not yet know positively that he is suspected of the murder, though he surmises as much. When taken into custody he continued to ask as to the charges against him, and after he had been safely lodged be-hind the bars he broke down and cried like an infant.

The complaint in this case was lodged by a Mrs. Ruffin, one of Mrs. Grant's neighbors. The juvenile in question is 7 years of age, and has been living with the Grants about six months. Several witnesses stated that they had heard whipping being administered to the little girl many times, and they considered that she had been cruelly treated.

ROUGH TREATMENT.

ROUGH TREATMENT. When the case came up about a week ago, Coroner Taylor was requested by the Justice to make an examination of the child, and report to the Court. Dr. Taylor, when placed on the stand yesterday, testified that he found two bruises—one circular in form on the left shoulder, and another on the middle of the shoulder-blade—upon the little girl. Coroner Taylor said he thought the child had been subjected to rougher treatment than one subjected to rougher treatment than one of her tender years should have been.
